Our core capacities and services

Project management
Our project managers are experts in curriculum design, implementation and evaluation. We manage a large range of multidimensional projects and have the skills to negotiate in highly politicised environments.

Consultation
The Corporation delivers consultancy services in projects with a focus on students, teachers, schools and systems, and services and resources to support them. Consultation is at the core of this work, drawing on expertise from education authorities, professional associations, current teachers and key stakeholders.

Resource development
The Corporation is highly experienced in the collaborative development of curriculum support resources for schools. Our in-house development and production teams ensure that strict quality assurance processes are maintained throughout the production of resources.

Professional services for schools
The Corporation is a trusted broker in education, supporting schools in innovative curriculum development and delivery in such areas as mathematics, science, technology, values education and boys’ education, managing the delivery of literacy support, providing professional teaching and learning resources, delivering professional development and supporting school libraries.

National curriculum mapping
In-house experts are experienced in mapping resources against each of the Australian State and Territory curriculum documents. This process ensures the relevancy of a curriculum resource within any Australian classroom.

Assessment and testing
The Corporation offers specialist services and advice in classroom and system-level assessments. Our expertise includes primary and secondary assessment, large-scale testing, test development, design and desktop publishing, administration and logistics.

Project evaluation and research
The Corporation provides evaluative and reporting services for significant national educational curriculum and service initiatives, is skilled in survey instrument design and implementation and regularly evaluates the educational soundness of third-party school curriculum resources.

Professional development
The Corporation develops, manages and delivers teacher professional development, with models ranging from online communities of practice to train-the-trainer programs, and from national conferences and seminars to facilitating mentor arrangements for schools with higher education or community entities.

Innovative online and digital resources
The Corporation develops award-winning digital, multimedia and online resources for schools, with expertise in concept creation, development, interoperability, standards, testing, trialling and delivery. The resources are user-focused and underpinned by a strong pedagogical understanding. The Le@rning Federation initiative employs emerging technologies to produce world-class online curriculum content to encourage student learning and support teachers in Australia and New Zealand.

Marketing and distribution
The Corporation is a specialist in selling and communicating directly into schools. Consequently, we are ideally placed to provide strategic marketing and distribution services for any client wishing to enter this challenging market.

Curriculum Corporation International
The Corporation offers a range of services for international clients. Our extensive experience in working with educational authorities overseas and in Australia as well as bilateral and multilateral funding organisations, government and non government agencies, equips us well to work in an increasingly globalised context.

Schools Catalogue Information Service (SCIS)
SCIS is a national cataloguing service for Australian, New Zealand and international schools. The SCIS database contains over 940,000 catalogue records of educational materials including books, audio-visual materials, electronic resources and websites. The SCIS service aims to reduce the cost and duplication of effort in cataloguing resources in school libraries.

Curriculum Corporation Press
The Corporation has established a unique range of resources to support teacher professional development. Publications are in print and electronic forms and include professional reading through to practical teaching guides and Australia’s leading education journal, EQ Australia.

Curriculum Leadership Journal (CLJ)
Curriculum Leadership is an online journal for leaders in school education, offering weekly news updates, summaries of key literature, and articles covering current initiatives, research and opinion.

EQ
EQ is a professional education magazine published quarterly by the Corporation. EQ offers practical help with classroom challenges, lively debate, information, research, data and reports on what is happening in education today.
