

Figure 4

National Days – figures and information.

	Google Items	Google Images	National Library of Australia	Picture Australia
Labour Day	2,000,000	484,000	1481	150
Queen's Birthday	141,000	46,000	347	90
Australia Day	23,000,000	5,790,000	9976	4431
Anzac Day	1,730,000	36,000	1582	2642

[Check figures and add a note specifying the date on which the Google search was conducted]

Australia Day

More people are now taking part in many more activities around the country.
 The Order of Australia awards are announced.
 The holiday has been held on the actual day since 1994.
 There is an Australia Day Council to promote the day.

Queen's Birthday

Queen's Birthday awards are now Order of Australia awards.
 There are not usually parades.
 Crackers are not readily available.
 The holiday is held on a Monday in June, not on the actual birthday of Queen Elizabeth II.

Anzac Day

No actual ANZACS are alive.
 More people are visiting Gallipoli.
 Many young people are getting involved.
 The holiday has always been held on the actual day.

Labour Day

This day is also called May Day and 8 Hour Day.
 There is no longer a procession of chimney sweeps.
 There are still parades and picnics.
 The holiday is held in March, May or October in different states.